

Discontinued Products

Devices listed here have been discontinued and are no longer available for sale.

Reasons for discontinuation are most likely:

- Device has been replaced by other / improved Lobar product.
- Device can't be produced due to current semiconductor part crisis.
- Weak demand from the market.

Please note: If you use an Lobar product we will always try to support you with it regardless if it's active or not.

List